Technology

This is a technology-infused class that also includes "unplugged" activities.

- We will be using the school-assigned Chromebooks in class.
- We will be using Schoology for our assignments.
- As per Board policy, no personal electronic devices are allowed.

This is a student-centered classroom.

- Students have a say in what they learn. I take an interest inventory of the students and incorporate students' interests into the curriculum.
- Students have a say in how they learn and how they show their learning. Students have choices through a variety of classroom activities.
